

Become a Business Partner

Reasons to Become a Business Partner

The work of the Indian Woods Historical Preservation Society enriches lives and helps make Bertie County, North Carolina a great place to live, work, and visit. Our collections, programs, and services focus exclusively on this historic county in North Carolina. What's more, the Society manages itself prudently and for the long term. Our trustees are among the most respected in the state, our executive management is solid, and our governance practices meet the highest standards for nonprofit institutions.

The Society is an independent, nonprofit, member-supported organization, not a state-funded agency. All of our work to save, preserve, and share New Hampshire's history depends on membership dues and contributions. If your organization values New Hampshire and wants to see its heritage preserved, the Indian Woods Historical Preservation Society is an ideal partner.
